The major supply-side shock caused by the disruption of energy- and food-related commodity flows since the conflict across the Middle East involving Iran will impact South Africa significantly due to its dependence on imports for the majority of its oil and fuel requirements. The South African government has implemented reductions in the fuel levy to mitigate the impact of increases in petrol and diesel prices on consumers and the economy; however, this results in a loss of up to R6 billion of government revenue per month. The Minister of Finance has indicated that this is a temporary measure, which will be phased out after June 2026. South Africa will face higher inflation, higher interest rates and lower economic growth, with the IMF forecasting GDP growth to slow from 1.1% in 2025 to 1.0% in 2026. This could decline further depending on how long the war persists. It will take time for global logistics to reset following this significant disruption, and the second-round impact on inflation will be felt over an extended period. Despite the conflict across the Middle East involving Iran and elevated global geopolitical risk, South African structural reforms continue to gain momentum. Infrastructure and supply-side benefits from government and private sector investment are materialising, and positive outcomes are being observed from improved electricity stability and transport systems.

These infrastructure and transport improvements are supported by favourable commodity prices, which have resulted in mineral sales reaching a new high of R910 billion over the past 12 months. Higher export levels are positive for the current account and government tax revenues. A more constructive environment is likely to lead to further ratings upgrades and the return of international portfolio investors seeking diversification. This will support the economy, financial markets, and broader economic stability.

The key risks to the South African economy include, 1) geopolitical tension, 2) energy and food supply- chain disruptions, 3) higher inflation and interest rates, 4) negative impact of tariffs on industries like automotive, 5) reversal of the favourable commodity pricing, 6) the end of reforms resulting in further infrastructure supply constraints and high pricing, and 7) the South African political environment becoming more unstable and a continued decline at local government.

	20-Year Average CPI	Current CPI	Difference	Five Year Peak Central Bank Rate	Current Central Bank Rate	Decline in Central Bank Rate	Current Real Rate	20 Year Average Real Rate	Difference
USA	2.5	3.3	0.8	4.2	3.75	-1.75	0.45	-0.69	1.14
EU	2.1	2.5	0.4	2.6	2.15	-2.35	-0.35	-0.88	0.53
South Africa	5.5	3.0	-2.5	3.9	6.75	-1.50	3.75	1.18	2.57

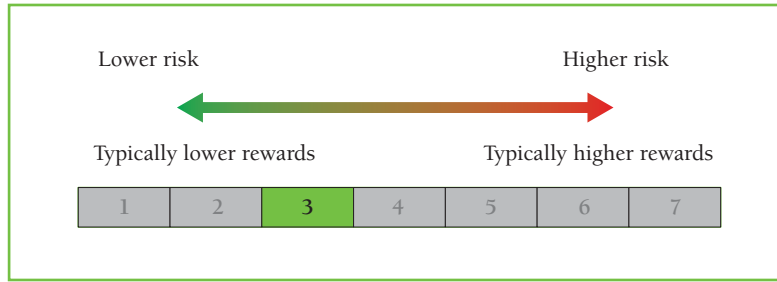

Global bond yields troughed during February 2026, followed by significant increases, reflecting expectations of higher inflation following the onset of the war in Iran and the disruption of energy- and food-related commodity flows. This is driving changes in the outlook for interest rates, with central banks expected to increase rates. Supply chains will take time to recover, and the second-round impact on inflation, particularly food inflation, will be felt over a prolonged period.

The South African 10-year yield troughed at 8.0% during the first quarter of 2026 and ended at 9.3%, reflecting the shift in the inflation outlook. The OECD inflation outlook for 2026 has increased substantially from the previous forecast, with the US rising from 2.2% to 4.2% and South Africa from 3.6% to 3.9%. This could increase further in an adverse scenario where the war and supply disruptions persist. This will result in the current real rate of 3.75% in South Africa declining, placing pressure on the South African Reserve Bank to increase interest rates.

The Oasis Crescent Income Fund (OCINF) is well diversified across geography, sector and instrument, with a focus on high-quality income-generating investments. The Fund has performed well and remains well positioned for the current volatile environment.
