The South African Economy continues to underperform with sluggish growth of 1.1% expected in 2026. The positive effect of the GNU's, Macro Economic reform are gaining momentum and improving the supply side of the economy, especially the electricity, rail and port sectors. The reforms seem to be lagging in local government and the criminal and justice sectors. The agricultural and mining sectors will support growth in 2026. The impact of the Western Asian conflict, with higher fuel and fertilizer prices, has raised inflation, the cost of living and interest rates, offsetting much of the positive impacts of the Macro Economic reform process.

Growth and South Africa's position on the global arena will be further undermined due to the anti-foreigner activities around the country, especially in KZN and Gauteng. Africa is a big trading partner of South Africa and SA corporates have big investments and exports to Africa. If these countries retaliate by slowing SA exports, increased regulation on SA corporates, many South Africans will lose their employment, especially in the highly paid corporate jobs. The South African economy has become dependent on these “foreign” workers and many businesses will be affected by the loss of skills, higher wages, fewer tenants while families reliant on support at home will find it difficult to have both parents working full time. It will take time and cost to replace these skills with South Africans. While macroeconomic reforms will positively affect the supply side of the economy and encourage investment and growth, the geopolitical conflicts, local corruption, failing municipal infrastructure and the continued assault on foreigners will undermine the skills base, the supply side of the economy, investment and economic growth. The South African economy is expected to underperform in the foreseeable future.

The key risks to the South African economy include, 1) geopolitical tension, 2) energy and food supply-chain disruptions, 3) higher inflation and interest rates, 4) the south African political environment becoming more unstable and the continued decline in local government, 5) high levels of corruption, 6) the anti-foreigner movement, 7) the end of macroeconomic reforms, resulting in infrastructure supply constraints and high administered pricing, 8) negative impact of tariffs on industries like automotive, and 9) reversal of the favorable commodity pricing.

The JSE SA Listed Property Index recovered in the second quarter resulting in a 4.6% return for the half year to June 2026. This performance reflects improving fundamentals, including limited new supply and low vacancy levels, particularly in the industrial, retail and coastal markets. Higher oil prices and elevated inflation, resulting from the West Asian war, are likely to delay new supply in both global and South African property markets, supporting lower vacancy levels.

In a global environment of higher inflation and interest rates, REITs with high-quality property portfolios and strong balance sheets are expected to perform better. The Oasis Crescent Property Fund (OCPF) is well positioned, with no debt on its balance sheet. The Fund continues to benefit from its high exposure to the Western Cape, as well as diversification through its global listed REIT investments in high-quality assets with strong balance sheets. The Fund also has access to a pipeline of attractive development and redevelopment opportunities within the Western Cape, both within its existing portfolio and through its strategic partner. This supports the delivery of modern, efficient assets in desirable locations, attracting high-quality tenants and supporting long lease profiles. The Fund remains well positioned to deliver resilient income and sustained long-term value.

Risk and Reward Profile

The risk and reward indicator:

- The above risk number is based on the rate at which the value of the Fund has moved up and down in the past
- The above indicator is based on historical data and may not be a reliable indication of the risk profile of the Fund
- The risk and reward category shown is not guaranteed and may shift over time
- The lowest category does not mean 'risk free'.

The Fund may also be exposed to risks which the risk number does not adequately capture. These may include:

- The value of stock market investments, and the income from them, will fluctuate. This will cause the Fund price to fall as well as rise and you may not get back the original amount you invested
- Any investment in international companies means that currency exchange rate fluctuations will have an impact on the Sub-Fund
- The Fund invests in a variety of geographic regions and countries. It is therefore exposed to the market sentiment of that specific geographic region or country. This level of diversification is appropriate to deliver on our objective to generate real returns at a lower volatility for our clients over the long term.
