The Global economy continues to be negatively impacted by the Western Asian War, with growth estimates lowered, except for US and China. Global growth is supported by:

- 1) A massive AI related infrastructure build particularly in the USA and China. This is a multi-year build out with the biggest impact in 2026. It is broad ranged covering many industries including Hyperscale technology companies building Data Centres, Semiconductor companies making microchips and Utilities supplying electricity. A lot of this capex is funded by debt and unproven business models, which could result in a massive overbuild of AI infrastructure.
- 2) Fiscal spend supported by high budget deficits and increasing government debt, with rising interest cost (USA interest cost now 18.3% of government revenue and a fiscal deficit of 5.2% of GDP)

The impact of the Western Asian war on commodity prices, including fertilizer will have a medium term impact on agricultural production and prices, together with second round price effects, this will keep inflation higher for longer. Central Banks have moved from an interest cutting cycle to a holding and rising interest rate cycle. With rising interest rates, and inflation, the cost of debt will impact both the private and public sectors. With remuneration lagging inflation, most consumers will be affected by rising cost of living. The risk to the global economy is high, especially for highly indebted countries, dependent on food and oil imports and those lagging in the AI spend.

The Global economic risks remain high as 1) geopolitical tension, 2) energy and food supply chain disruption, 3) higher inflation and interest rates, 4) expanding government debt, 5) deteriorating demographics in many countries, 6) the rise of made “By China”, 7) unstable governments, and 8) slower economic growth. Economies that are able to navigate through this period will prosper.

During June 2026 quarter, global equity markets had a robust recovery as the West Asia War Memorandum of Understanding was signed and the massive run-up in AI related stocks. The prospects of higher inflation and interest rates subsided. The MSCI World Index increased by 17.2% and 11.5% respectively for the quarter and half year to June 2026. MSCI ACWI Islamic Index had a blowout 24%, first half of 2026, outperforming by 12.5%. This was bolstered by the high exposure to the Semiconductor sector which increased by 53.6% in the period. We expect, the massive pickup in investment spend and the resultant increase in depreciation and interest cost will impact company earnings from mid-2027 as these expenses are taken through the income statements putting pressure on earnings growth relative to sky-high expectations. The MSCI World Index PE ended the period at 22.4, just off its peak of 22.7 which remains above its 20-year average of 16.8 times. The S&P 500, Nasdaq, and STOXX Europe 600 are also trading at significant premiums to their long-term valuations, while the UK FTSE 100 remains one of the cheapest equity markets, with a PE of 15.2.
