Precious metals, oils & grains prices are positive for the current account, Rand, inflation and interest rates.

The South African economy has continued with its low 1.1% growth in 2025. However, the current estimates for 2026 and 2027 of 1.2% and 1.5% respectively may be too low, due to 1) the continued rollout of structural reforms and its benefits of expanding bulk capacity, 2) coinciding with a cyclical recovery, based on a lower inflation, supporting lower interest rates and 3) reinforced by a very favorable commodity price mix, with very strong precious metals (exports) and weaker soft commodities (imports), like oil and grains resulting in a strong Rand exchange rate. These factors plus the improved financial oversight, with South Africa removed from the FATF Grey List has resulted in the first country rating upgrade in a decade. This positive South African macro economic situation is reinforced by a greater focus by global investors to diversify into stronger growth and lower risk emerging markets which could set the scene for the South African economy to reach growth rates of 3-5%, previously experienced in the 2000-2010 period.

The Risks to this Scenario are 1) significant flare up in Geopolitics, 2) negative impact of tariffs on industries like automotive, 3) reversal of the favorable commodity pricing, 4) the end of reforms resulting in further infrastructure supply constraints and high pricing and 5) the South African political environment becoming more unstable and a continued decline at Local Government. 2026, has the potential to be a defining year with good growth, a positive macro-economic environment with stable inflation and lower interest rates, further rating upgrades and a return of international portfolio investors resulting in significant foreign inflows. This will be good for the economy, financial markets and all South Africans.

EU	2.1	2.1	0.0	4.50	2.15	-2.35	-0.05	-0.88	0.93

SA bonds had a good year. SA 10 year yields started 2025 at 10.33%, ending the year at 8.2%. The SA 10 year bond had Rand returns of 25.4% and $ returns of 40.8% as the R:$ strengthened and longer dated Bonds had better returns due to the benefit of higher duration as interest rates reduced in 2025. On the other extreme was Japan with its yields increasing, with 10 year bonds YTM rising from 1.1% to 2.1% delivering returns of -6.4% and -6.1% in Yen and $, with 30 year bonds doing much worse with Yen returns of -18.7% as maturity spreads increased and the impact of rising rates on duration.

Global central banks have been lowering policy rates with some like the EU close to a bottom. Real rates vary with -2.4% in Japan, 0.05% in the EU, 1.05% in the USA, 2.3% in China and 3.25% in South Africa. Inflationary expectations are rising in the USA and Europe and declining in Emerging Markets. SA inflation is currently at 3.5%, above the SARB Target rate of 3%, but inflation is expected to move to target range in the short term due to, infrastructure supply increasing, the stronger Rand impact on import prices, lower grain prices, the end of the foot and mouth disease increases the supply of red meat and lower fuel prices. The SARB has cut interest rates by 150 bps and it is expected to cut by another 50-75 bps by the end of the cycle as confidence grows in the supply side of the economy.

The Oasis Crescent Income Fund is well-diversified by geography, sector and instrument, focused on quality income investments. The Fund has done well and is well positioned for these volatile conditions.
