The South African economy grew by a disappointing 0.6% in 2024, below the population growth of 1.3%, the low growth trend that started in 2014, resulting in a significant decline in the per capita income over this period. This economic underperformance has been driven by policies focused on consumption and not on investment and growth, despite massive budget deficits of 5.0% and debt to GDP of 76 % for the last fiscal year. With debt service cost making up 22 cents in every Rand of revenue collected by the fiscus highlighting the magnitude of the problem.

The lack of investment first showed up in the electricity sector before spreading to core logistics including rail and ports, water infrastructure and the collapse in municipal infrastructure. Operation Vulindlela which started the reforms and leadership to create the environment to enhance investment has entered its second phase, prioritizing local government amongst others. The GNU has played an important part in reinforcing the reform and delivery process, however the fact that the unity has not entered the provincial and local government, and its fragility has been further exposed in the recent budget fallout and the ongoing ideological clashes between the major parties. A breakup of the GNU will be viewed very negatively, impacting confidence, investment, reform, service delivery and economic growth. The trade war has reached South African shores with a 30% tariff, to be implemented on 1 August 2025, with few exemptions for commodities on SA exports to the US and the secondary effects of the tariff impacts on our largest trading partners. We anticipate that the economic impact on South Africa could be significant.

Foreign investors sold a net R231bn of SA equities and bonds in the first half of 2025, despite significant inflows into Emerging Market Funds, highlighting the SA political and trade war risk. The January 2025 IMF outlook for South Africa, was for GDP growth of 1.5% and 1.6% growth in 2025 and 2026 respectively but in the April forecast this reduced to 1.0% and 1.3% for the 2 years. The GNU budget issues and the higher tariffs could significantly reduce these growth rates. A bumper agricultural crop, a stable electricity sector with no load shedding, an improvement in freight logistics with growth of 6.5% this year, together with strong gold and platinum prices could assist in offsetting these growth concerns. The stronger R:Z at 17.71 and a lower inflation rate of 2.8% is supportive of the SA economy. South Africa needs wise and dynamic leadership and an improved economic policy in this challenging time.

Gross Fixed Capital Formation Rbn

- Fixed capital investment has declined by 22% in nominal terms since 2013
- Fixed capital investment has declined by 55% in real terms since peak in 2013

South African Equities performed well over the 6 and 12 months with the Alsi returning 16.7% and 25.2%, respectively, based on improved sentiment driving the Alsi PE to 15.9, up significantly from the lows of 9.6, supported by earnings growth of 8.6%. The markets were boosted by gold, platinum, dual listed companies like Richemont, Prosus, Reinet and some of the Insurance shares. SA Inc shares underperformed as the local economy continues to disappoint and the concerns that the GNU could unravel. The tariff wars and the GNU breakup are major risks to SA markets. The Oasis portfolios performed well over the last 12 months, being well diversified. The portfolios are made up of high-quality stocks, with good leadership, trading at significant discounts on the market, with robust free cash flow and strong balance sheets providing relative downside protection. The portfolio is well positioned to add long-term value.

SA listed Reits had a good 12-month performance with returns of 24.0%, and 5.3% for the 6 months to June 2025. With little new supply, vacancies have reduced, with industrial, retail and coastal markets improving the most. Reits also benefitted from the narrowing of the discount to Net Asset Value. The Cape Town property markets, with very strong demand and supply fundamentals has driven up rentals to rates supporting new development, with vacant land being the key constraint. The Oasis Crescent Property Fund has continued to perform well, benefiting from a portfolio of high-quality Reits, with positive demand and supply fundamentals in secular growth sectors, with superior balance sheets and excellent management. All its properties barring one, are in the Cape Town metropole with strong fundamentals, a shortage of land and the best functioning municipality in the country. The fund is investigating a number of growth opportunities in Cape Town. The share trades at a significant discount to NAV. The Oasis Crescent Global Property Fund is well positioned to add value over the long term, with leading Reits benefiting from secular demand and with relatively low leverage.

SA bonds had a good year. SA 10 year yields started 2025 at 10.33%, ending March at 10.63% and June 2025 at 10%. The ALBI had returns of 18.4% and 6.6% for the year and half year to June 2025. Global central banks have started lowering policy rates, but appear to be hawkish (except the EU) due to rising risk and inflationary expectations, real rates ranging from 0.15% in EU, 2.10% in USA and 3.1% in China compared to 20 year average real rates of -0.90%, -0.75% and 1.44% respectively. If inflationary expectations rise due to the trade war, there is little scope to cut policy rates, except for China, the US and some Emerging markets which has substantial scope to cut rates. SA Inflation started the year at 3.2% and was 2.8% at the end of May 2025 with inflationary expectations reducing. The SARB started easing interest rates, with rates being cut by 1.00%. The SARB has been conservative in its rate cutting due to elevated Global and SA risks. If this risk reduces, there is a substantial scope to cut rates, supported by high real rates of 4.45%. The Oasis Crescent Income Fund profit rate (including reinvestment of monthly income) is 8.6%. The Fund is a well-diversified portfolio, by geography, sector and instrument, focused on quality income investments. The Fund has done well and is well positioned for these volatile conditions.
